A DAY'S SAD RECORD.

The Vices, Follies, and Misfortunes of Twenty-Four Hours.

A Tug Explodes—A Homicide's Suicide—A Guiltless Juror Insane—Another Tornado, and Other Incidents.

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., June 11.—An explosion occurred on the tug Athlete, near Fernandina. Captain Sam Denette was blown through one partition wall into the wheel-house and lodged outside of the wheel-house. He was fatally injured. The engineer, William Bowman, ran into the engine-room to shut off the steam, and was also badly scalded about the face and arms. Captain Parsons, who was on board at the time, and all of the crew, except the cook, jumped overboard, and were rescued by the vessel's boats. The cook attempted to get through a small hole in the guard and got hung, and remained so until the crew went back on board and pulled him out. The damages are between $3,000 and 4,000.

STEVENSVILLE, O., June 11.—Alexander Wyatt, who killed John Bird in this city two weeks ago for eloping with his wife, and for which he was indicted for murder in the second degree, made a rope of a bed sheet, tied it to the bars of his cell, jumped off the end of his bed, and was strangled to death last night, between midnight and morning. He left a note to his wife forgiving her, and hoping God would also forgive her, and telling her to care for their eight children.

The prisoners heard a racket in the inside cell, but did not know the cause until the jailer called this morning to pass in his breakfast, when he found Wyatt stone dead. His three children had called on him yesterday, when Wyatt bade them an affectionate good-by, which shows that he then contemplated suicide.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Daniel Sheenan, a juror in the Oakes case, and who last week developed symptoms of insanity, became violently deranged last night and rushed out into the street crying that his wife was killing him. He was secured, and after a short struggle, locked up by the police. He was committed to the insane asylum this morning. His friends say that Guiteau's curse in the court room on all connected with the trial visibly affected him at the time, and he has never been himself since. In this connection it is curious to note that misfortunes have overtaken fifteen of those actively concerned in this trial. The deaths of the District Attorney's (Corkhill's) wife and Juror Hobbs' wife, Surgeon General Barnes, Dr. Noble Youngs, the dismissal of Marshal Henry, Bailiff Stahlis, and Detective McElfresh, the jail wagon driver and guard; Dr. Hicks' libel suits in regard to Guiteau's body; the troubles of Dr. Gray, of Utica, and Dr. McDonald, of Ward's Island, N. Y., and the dismissal of Officer Kearney, who arrested Guiteau.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Miss Sarah Raymond, forty-six, had for several years been afflicted with a swelling in her neck which gradually grew until it was nearly as large as her head. Recently it began to affect her breathing, until it became a matter of choice whether she should be slowly strangled to death or risk an operation. Concerning the latter, she was advised by her doctors that it might result in death. She determined, however, to take the chances and yesterday evening, after wishing her brother and sister an affectionate farewell, she went to the Mercy Hospital, where Dr. Edward Andrews and several assistants were to perform the operation. She was placed under the influence of ether and conveyed to the lecture room, where a number of prominent physicians had assembled. Two incisions were made, one at the base and the other at the upper right hand side. Immediately the breathing and the heart's action became embarrassed, and in a few moments the patient was dead. The swelling under microscopic inspection was found to be a soft cancer. It reached from the chin to the breast, and was thirty-seven inches in circumference.

DECATUR, ALA., June 11.—A horrible murder was committed at Attalla, Ala. Henry Jackson was found in a house in the center of the town with a bullet through his brain. He had four aces and a king in his hand. He had been playing cards with a man named McCamie, and when the latter saw his hand he shot him, picked up the stakes and fled.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., June 11.—A dispatch received here late last night says a portion of the town of North Vernon, Jennings county, was struck by a tornado last evening, destroying a church, damaging a large number of houses, and demolishing considerable of the rolling-stock of the Ohio & Mississippi. Six persons are known to have been injured, and it is feared some were killed. East of North Vernon, as far as Lawrenceburg, much damage was done.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., June 11.—News reaches here from Richmond, twenty-five miles from here, that Joe Young, the negro rapist, hung for his crime there on May 20th, is yet living, having been restored to life by efforts of his friends, who thought they noticed signs of life in the body soon after it was cut down and handed over to them.

At the hanging Young dropped seven feet, and was pronounced dead by the physicians, although his neck was not broken.

UNDERNEATH THE WAVES.

Eating, Drinking and Smoking in the Water by the Champion Swimmer of the World.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Mr. Willie Beckwith, the champion swimmer of the world, and his sister, Miss Agnes, who holds the female championship of the same planet, both of whom arrived from England a few days ago, gave an exhibition of their art in the Natatorium, Nos. 2 and 4 East Forty-fifth-street, and their performances were really wonderfully. Willie Beckwith is a short and stout young man, 25 years of age, and he seems as much at home in the water as a fish. He went under water last evening and devoured two sponges cakes without coming to the surface, and afterward drank a bottle of milk underneath the waves and then smoked a pipe under water, with the bowl above. In fact, it would seem that he might as well stay under altogether, for if a man can eat, drink, and smoke under water during the hot weather New York is at present experiencing, it is folly to come above the surface to be roasted.

BARNUM'S NEW ELEPHANT.

Its Removal From Siam Causes Indignation Equalling Jumbo's Alienation From Home.

NEW YORK, June 11.—P. T. Barnum, the showman, was at the Windsor the other night, on his way from Chicago, where he left Jumbo and the rest of his show, to his home in Bridgeport, Conn. "Let thy servant depart in peace," he said, "but before I go—and I hope to remain a long time yet—I want a white elephant." Mr. Barnum felt confident that a white elephant and a spotted elephant went on their way to this country with a lot of other elephants for him. They were expected to arrive at San Francisco July 1, and his partner, J. A. Bailey, was going to meet the ship there. The agent, J. B. Gaylord, secured a personal interview with the King of Siam, but opened negotiations directly with the Prime Minister. The potentates and the people were wrought up to a great state of indignation by the proposal to take one of the beasts which they worshipped away. The United States Consul at Bangkok wrote Mr. Barnum that if he had been there when the proposition was made it was doubtful if his life would have been safe. Whenever a white elephant is brought to the King of Siam it is the custom to present the person bringing the beast a sum equal in American money to a few thousand dollars and make a noble of him. Several Siamese men went to Mr. Gaylord and told him that they knew of a white elephant belonging to a rajah, or some other individual, which they could get. They wanted $100,000 in English gold on its delivery at Moulmein, in the British Burmah. Gaylord has said that he would take the animal only in British possessions. It was a hazardous undertaking. The men would have to travel six weeks with the white elephant. They could only drive him under cover of darkness on account of the fear of trouble, and would be obliged to rest during the day for that reason. Sam Nickerson, a Connecticut Yankee, volunteered to go. The rajah preferred cash to a title, so a bargain was struck whereby $25,000 was to be paid at Moulmein and the remaining $75,000 at San Francisco. Buddhist priests were to accompany them. Gaylord cabled Mr. Barnum early in May that the white elephant had arrived safely at Moulmein, and that he had secured a spotted elephant for about $25,000. He added that he would arrive at San Francisco July 1. The next day a dispatch came stating that Gaylord had been arrested for stealing the white elephant, but subsequently that he had been acquitted. Nothing more was heard from Gaylord. Two or three days afterward a dispatch was printed in a newspaper saying that a white elephant belonging to a circus had died at the place where Gaylord was thought to be. Bailey said that was a ruse of Gaylord's to quiet the natives. Mr. Barnum said if a white elephant really did die as reported, it must have been his, but in that case Gaylord would have been apt to inform him. At any rate the spotted elephant was all right. The animals were to be finally shipped at Singapore. In the lot was an elephant whose tusks ran on the ground like the runners of a sleigh and curled up. Gen. U. S. Grant told Mr. Barnum that the King of Siam had an elephant of this description. The greatest fear now is the passage of the equator. Ex-Mayor Warner, of Lansing, Mich., who negotiated for Jumbo; Elephant Bill, and a man named Buel, of St. Louis, went to Russia to get a white elephant belonging to the Czar in the Zoological Gardens. It was given to the ruler of Russia in part consideration for surrendering some territory that had been taken from another country—Siam. Mr. Barnum was of the opinion that Elephant Bill tested the beast and thought it was a black elephant troubled with scurvy; so the man came back. The Czar offered to let the beast go for a year. Mr. Barnum wanted him for two years. Mr. Barnum was not so sure that after all he was a genuine white elephant. If there had been no doubt he could have been secured for two years.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The burial of John Howard Payne's remains and the dedication of the handsome monument to his memory in Oak Hill Cemetery occurred Saturday. The remains were taken from their temporary resting place at the Art Gallery, and then escorted to the cemetery by a funeral procession consisting of militia, the President, members of the Cabinet and the Diplomatic Corps, Judges of the United States Courts, Senators and Representatives, and the relatives of Payne. At the cemetery there were memorial services, consisting of a poem by Robert J. Chilton; an oration by Leigh Robinson; selections of vocal and instrumental music and religious exercises, conducted by Bishop Pinckney and Dr. Leonard, of St. John's. The vocal music by the Philharmonic Society included "Home, Sweet Home," and the audience united in singing the last verse of that song.

A VINCENNES MURDER.

Charles Pollock Shoots His Devoted Wife,

And Then Himself, Both Dying With Scarcely a Groan—It Is Said Suicide Seems to be a Mania in the Husband's Family.

VINCENNES, IND., June 11.—Yesterday morning the city was thrown into a high state of excitement by one of the darkest tragedies ever known in the annals of Vincennes. The facts concerning the affair, briefly, are these: Saturday night Charles Pollock, a son of Joseph Pollock, a wealthy miller, went home in a state of intoxication and took the life of his beautiful young wife, to whom he was but recently wedded, and then, a moment later, killed himself. Pollock's wife had that day returned from a visit to her father, in Petersburg. Before she arrived he procured a revolver, evidently having premeditated the deed several hours before it was committed. He met her at the train, and seemed most happy to see her. But along toward dark Pollock got to drinking very hard, and after getting shaved, about 11:30 o'clock, went home. His mother opened the door to let him in, and he threw his arms around her neck and kissed her affectionately, and with much emotion said, "Good-by, mamma; I am going away!" and then he went to the bedside of his aged father, who was asleep, and awoke him, saying, "Good-by, father; I am going away!" but the old gentleman, having been addressed that way by his son many times before, took no heed of the words, and told his son to go off to bed and quit his foolishness. Charles went on up stairs, and went to bed with his wife. He gave her an orange, and she ate while he talked to her affectionately and embraced and kissed her. He had been in bed perhaps ten minutes, when Mrs. Ross, a sister of Charles, and who was in a room just across the hall, heard Mrs. Pollock say in frightened tones, "Oh, Charles, don't do it," and then came instantly the report of a revolver, and Mrs. Ross, thinking Charles had shot himself, started for the room, and Mrs. Pollock rushed into the hall with a terrific scream, and fell to the floor. Before Mrs. Ross could reach her brother's bedside, a second shot was fired, and then she began to realize what had happened. She saw her brother had killed himself, and, going to Mrs. Pollock, found her lying in a pool of blood, and breathing her last.

The popular theory is that Pollock shot his wife while she lay in his arms, as the first shot he fired passed through the fleshy part of one of his arms and penetrated the heart. He then placed the revolver to his side and shot himself. Neither ever spoke a word, both dying with scarcely a groan.

Mrs. Pollock was but eighteen years old, and was one of the most beautiful and amiable women in the city. Her maiden name was Clara Clendenning, and she had been married to Pollock but a short time. Pollock loved her very much, and talked constantly of her beauty, her sweetness, her gentleness, and her devotion to him.

IDA'S LOVER.

A Dashing Young Englishman Captures an Heiress to $170,000.

MONTREAL, June 11.—Last winter a dashing Englishman, of twenty-eight, came to Canada and speedily ingratiated himself in the affections of Miss Ida Chaffey, the daughter of a well-known and wealthy deceased Judge of Ontario. In company with her sisters and other family friends, she visited Montreal during the carnival in January and put up at the most fashionable hotel. The young Englishman, who passed himself off as "Lord Cantyre," was also of the party, much against the wish of the lady's friends. He became very popular with the wealthy bloods of the city, and also with the young lady, and a clandestine marriage was arranged, notwithstanding her extreme youth, and the pair left the same night for Ontario. They were followed by the lady's friends, who meantime had learned that "My Lord" was a myth, and that "James Allan Esquire" was all the title their would-be relative could lay claim to. The couple were overtaken and explanations resulted in the young lady's return to her friends, pending proof of the legitimacy and legality of the marriage. The most eminent counsel was engaged on both sides. The two sisters of the dupe, one of them one of the guardians, proved the above facts. B. W. Richards, of Brockville, a brother of one of the guardians, testified that Miss Chaffey, on coming of age, would inherit $170,000, and that his brother was never present in Perth during Allan's visit, and consequently could not have consented to the marriage. E. J. Reynolds, a barrister of Brockville, proved that the consent of the guardians was necessary to the marriage under the will of Miss Chaffey's father. Mr. S. A. Lebovau, an advocate of Montreal, testified that on the Saturday of carnival week Allan consulted him as to the necessary proceedings to be taken in order to be married. Witness told him that if he would have to get a license, and in such a case two bondsmen would be necessary. This plan was decided upon, and the services of two carter were secured. They then went to the office of J. M. Duff, issuer of licenses. Lebovau introduced Allan to Duff's clerk and left him there. In a short time Allan returned to Lebovau, saying that a hitch had occurred, as he had stated to the clerk that the young lady was seventeen, and that the license could not be issued. They next visited Mr. Cushing's office, in company with witness, to whom the representation was made that the young lady was over twenty-one. The license was then obtained. The Rev. Mr. Galbraith, a Presbyterian clergyman, was waited on and he was also assured that she was twenty-one. The marriage was solemnized in the presence of witnesses, and the carter and the pair drove back to the hotel. At the argument, Kerr, Q. C., for the plaintiffs, insisted upon annulling the marriage on the ground that it had not been publicly solemnized; that the girl was under age, and that the consent of the guardians had not been obtained. Deure, Q. C., for the defendant, said that having discovered the impossibility of proving the consent of the guardians, he saw no means of opposing the demand, and advised Allan that there was no chance of maintaining it. Upon this Allan had authorized him to let the case go to judgment. The Judge promised a decision soon. The girl is residing with her uncle, who is also her guardian, in Winnipeg. Nothing is known against Allan's personal character. He spent money freely and contracted no debts.

SEVENTY AND SEVENTEEN.

An Old Groom's Trials With His Young Bride—Flinging Miscellaneous Articles at Her Husband's Head in Seeking Relief in Divorce.

WAUKESHA, WIS., June 11.—This town is again the scene of a divorce sensation, a sensation greater than the late Bacon case. The love affairs of George A. Hine, the hero of a marriage which was given so much space in the newspapers of the country about a year ago, are again before the public. Mr. Hine, a man of more than seventy years, is a farmer, living near this village. His property is very valuable, and he is considered one of the most wealthy persons in this part of the State. He raised one family, but was not satisfied with that. He convinced himself that there were yet days of domestic bliss in store for him, and he determined to take unto himself a wife. His family tried to induce him to change his mind, but their efforts were of no avail. He began looking about for a helpmeet, and met Miss Gertrude Rowe, a young woman of some seventeen summers.

The courting period extended over several months, until one day Mr. Hine was missed from the places which had known him, and it was alleged that friends had advised him to take a vacation in the hope that he would change his mind about marrying. Then the young woman showed that she was not to be trifled with. She threatened a suit for breach of promise and it was reported that the matter had been placed in the hands of a lawyer and that the damages would be placed at $10,000. For several weeks this state of affairs continued, when Mr. Hine put in an appearance and the couple were married. The date of the ceremony was February 23, 1882. Mr. Hine took his bride to his home. There seems to have been some trouble from the first. She was young and used to the city; he was old, very old, and had spent his life on the farm.

Now proceedings for divorce have been instituted by Mr. Hine in the Circuit Court. The complaint sets up that the issue of the marriage is one child; that Mrs. Hine has treated Mr. Hine in a cruel and inhuman manner; that on or about the 5th day of May, 1882, the defendant did violently abuse plaintiff by the use of abusive epithets, and did then and there seize the plaintiff by the hair and severely and maliciously pull the same, thereby greatly injuring the plaintiff; that on the 14th day of May defendant, without cause, did seize a basin filled with unclean water, and did throw the same into plaintiff's face, and did repeat the act a few minutes thereafter; that about January 17 last defendant did maliciously attempt to injure plaintiff by throwing at him a large screw driver; that at other times defendant has thrown things at the plaintiff, and that it has become dangerous for him to live with her. It is not known when the case will come up for a hearing.

Death From a Grain of Coffee.

CINCINNATI, June 11.—Saturday about noon, as the wife of Mr. Wm. Shannon, of 92 Hopkins street, was grinding coffee for dinner, her little one-and-a-half-year-old daughter playfully picked up a grain of the stuff and placed it in her mouth. By some way she swallowed the coffee and choked, and her mother at once summoned a physician. Her condition was found to be serious, and three other doctors were called. It was found that the grain, instead of going down the proper channel to the stomach, had entered the wind-pipe and found lodgment. It could not be reached by the physicians' fingers or instruments; in fact, they were unable to locate it. After suffering for an hour, and becoming unconscious, the little sufferer's father arrived and he was told that the only hope was the operation of tracheotomy, which was to make an incision in the outside of the throat, in order to reach the coffee. Mr. Shannon consented to this, and the knife was used, but the child passed away before the operation was finished. The grain was not found. The general opinion of the physicians is that it got below the larynx, and lodged at the bifurcation of the trachea, or in the bronchial tube. The mother and father are almost distracted over the loss of their only child.

An Indian's Fatal Rage.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Agent Wilcox, of the San Carlos Indian Agency, Arizona Territory, in his monthly statement to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, says: "On the 22d ult. an Indian confined in the calaboose in iron's for shooting a squaw became enraged at his wife, who had brought him some clean clothing and delivered it to him outside of the prison. Suddenly he drew a knife from her belt and plunged it into her side four times, killing her almost instantly. He was fired upon by an Indian scout as his hand was raised for the final blow, and fell dead by the side of his murdered wife. The two bodies were buried in one grave."

RUSSIA.

Moscow, June 11.—Minister Hunt and Admiral Baldwin have received a large gold medal commemorative of the coronation. Admiral Baldwin has received a gold snuff-box with a portrait of the Czar set in brilliants to mark the Czar's personal appreciation of the courtesy of the United States in sending a Special Naval Mission to Moscow.

St. Petersburg, June 11.—The reception to the Czar and Czarina as they passed through the capital to-day en route to the Peterhoff Palace was very enthusiastic, although the proceedings were too short and informal to admit of anything like a popular display, which will be reserved until the formal entry. The Czar has presented a gold, diamond-studded snuff-box to Sir Garnet Wolseley. The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh will remain in the capital until the end of the week.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 11.—Dr. Norvin Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company; Mr. Sam. Ward, and other well known Americans, were among the guests at the Press Fund annual dinner Saturday night.

LONDON, June 11.—The trial of the dynamite conspirators, Dr. Gallagher, Bernard Gallagher, Ansbury, Curtin, Whitehead and Wilson, charged with treason and felony, began this morning. The court was crowded.

LONDON, June 11.—There has been nothing heard of the balloon which on Friday ascended for the third time in an effort to reach the English coast from Boulogne. Whether the two aeronauts have been lost or not can only be conjectured, but they could scarcely have fallen in France or Belgium, or have reached England, and still be beyond telegraphic communication for such a length of time. The only hope appears to be that they may have been picked up by some passing vessel in the channel.

TONQUIN.

VIENNA, June 11.—The difficulties of France in Tonquin are causing much anxiety here in official circles, where it is understood that China may at any time ask for the intermediation of Austria. It is doubtful if the Imperial Government would care to assume that delicate position, since it has become a party to the triple alliance. At the same time the war of 1896 has not been forgotten, and Austria is not entirely in sympathy with Bismarck's policy.

TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 11.—The fighting and village burning continues in Albania. The Turkish troops and the mountaineers are carrying on a constant conflict with heavy losses on both sides. Motley, the latter, who positively identified Timothy Kelley, has received $2,000 and his passage money, and has left the country.

The trouble between the trunk lines and the Central Pacific regarding the California through business has been adjusted. The Central Pacific agrees to restore the rates by its railroad ocean route by way of New Orleans on and after June 18, to the same figures as charged by the all-rail routes.

GEORGE HOLDEMAN, seventy years old, a farmer living near Easton, Pa., died from injuries which he received by being dragged by a runaway horse. Holde man was riding the animal and was thrown from his seat by the animal jumping. His foot caught in the harness, and he was dragged 500 yards and terribly injured.

While removing ore from the McLaren Company's phosphate mine, at West Tuxton, Friday last, the roof caved in, burying five men. Comrades extricated them as quickly as possible. When found Antoine Noyer was dead, and the other four so seriously injured that their lives are despaired of.

The Uxbridge Woolen company, at Uxbridge, Mass., is about to shut down its mills indefinitely. A portion of the works has been for some time for repairs. The other mills now running will be shut down as soon as the stock can be run out. Hinsdale Brothers, of Hinsdale, who employ between 400 and 500 hands in two mills, have informed their employees that until further notice the mills will be run only three days a week. It is reported that one or two smaller mills will follow this course.

While scoring for a race at the fair ground at Auburn, New York, Friday, a gelding, driven by Eugene Root, of Syracuse, became unmanageable, and the sulky was broken by a collision. The horse dashed from the track and through the grounds, dragging the driver by the heels. Root's head was crushed by the horse's hoofs, and he will die. A buggy was smashed and several persons were slightly injured before the horse was stopped. There was great excitement among the large crowd present.

PRINCE ARISUGAWA, the cousin of the Mikado of Japan, who was recently in this country and in Europe, is about to publish a diary of his tour. Native papers say he was much surprised at the splendor of the palaces occupied by the reigning sovereigns of Europe, and that he has recommended that the new residence of the Mikado be built on a much more magnificent scale than was at first intended. Seven millions of dollars were at first appropriated for the edifice, but the Prince's suggestion has been adopted, and the appropriation accordingly raised to $30,000,000.

And the best method of regulation so far devised seems to be high licenses."

Craft to Hang.

The Court of Appeals has confirmed the decision of the Carter Circuit Court in the case of Ellis Craft. The counsel for the convicted man will have thirty days to file a petition for a rehearing and after that point is decided the Governor will fix the time for the execution. The Court of Appeals will adjourn next Saturday and if a petition for a rehearing is filed it can not be decided until the court meets in September. The court has given the case a full hearing and there is no reason to fear that the petition will cut any figure in the case, or that Craft will not be hanged thirty days after the petition is refused by the court. The full text of the opinion will be found in another column.

Ellis Craft vs. Commonwealth of Kentucky.

The following is the opinion of the Court of Appeals as delivered by Justice Hines: This is an appeal from a sentence of death on a conviction for murder. The case was here before on an appeal from a like sentence and reversed because of the failure of the court to properly instruct the jury as to the weight to which the testimony of an accomplice is entitled. Opinion delivered September 12, 1882, and to be reported. On the first trial one Ellis, an accomplice, testified on behalf of the Commonwealth, to the guilt of appellant, but died before the last trial, in which trial the Commonwealth gave in evidence to the jury the statements of Ellis, made at the former trial. Appellant then offered testimony to the effect that Ellis, subsequent to the first trial, had stated that the evidence given by him on the first trial incriminating appellant was false. This evidence the court rejected and the correctness of that ruling is the only question we need now inquire into on this appeal.

In this state it is settled, in harmony with the adjudications in the majority of state, that before evidence can be adduced to impeach a witness by proof of statements contradictory of what he has testified, he must be inquired of as to such statements, with circumstances of time, place, and persons present. This rule is established in civil cases by the code, and in criminal prosecutions by an unbroken line of decisions.

It is insisted by appellant that this rule does not apply where the witness sought to be impeached is dead. In this state there is no reported case in which the question has been presented, but there are numerous cases in which the evidence of a deceased witness, in both by deposition and orally, has been reproduced, and this fact is strongly persuasive that such impeaching testimony has been uniformly considered incompetent, since it could not have been introduced without making it an exception to the well established rule that the witness sought to be impeached must first be inquired of as to the circumstances of time and place of contradicting statements. The reason of the rule is that the witness attempted to be impeached may have an opportunity to contradict or explain such alleged statements. Such evidence is an exception to the well recognized rule that hearsay evidence is not competent, and is only admitted upon the condition that this opportunity of contradiction or explanation be had. If such an exception were made to the general rule excluding hearsay evidence, there would be a strong temptation to the fabrication of evidence by which important and true evidence might be destroyed. An exception to this rule has been contended for in the admission of the declaration of a deceased witness to a deed or will, in disparagement of the evidence afforded by his signature, but has been disallowed. (Greenleaf on Evidence, Sec. 126.) Even in an ex parte proceeding for the probate of a will, where the opposite party has no opportunity to cross examine the witnesses, the courts have refused to allow the deceased witness to be impeached by proof of state in conflict with his evidence given under oath. (Runyan vs. Price et al., 18 Ohio State.)

In the case of Stacy vs. Graham, 14 N. Y., 498, the testimony of a witness had been taken de bene esse and read on the trial, whereupon the defendant offered to prove conversations with that witness after his examination, in which he confessed that his evidence, was false, that it had been given under threats and that he regretted having testified as he had. The court refused to permit the impeaching testimony to be heard, and in the opinion said:

"Nor can we, in the present case, admit a distinction founded on the circumstance that the admissions of the witness were made, as alleged, after he had been examined. I can not perceive that the reasons on which the rule in question is founded lose any of their force in such a case. And not only do those remain unimpaired, but there is an additional one to be found in the temptation held out to tamper with witnesses after their evidence has been given. I can conceive of nothing more dangerous in principle than the doctrine contended for. When a witness has been examined and cross examined if we allow him to be approached afterward and delarations to be drawn from him inconsistent with his testimony and then receive those in evidence without the protection which the rule affords, there will be no safety in the trials. When the first experiment of this kind shall be sanctioned by the courts, there is no doubt that it will be often repeated and with greater or less success."

It does not matter that in the present case the witness sought to be impeached was an accomplice, notwithstanding the fact that under our code his evidence is not admissible unless corroborated. When his evidence is corroborated he occupies the same attitude of any other witness, so far as the method of contradicting or impeaching him is concerned. In this case there is corroborating evidence sufficient to have the jury to consider the evidence of an accomplice, and the jury are the sole judges as to what weight should be given to such corroborating testimony.

Judgment affirmed.

AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers."

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro.,

Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable."

J. T. HAYES.

Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.
